Profile – Geordi McIntosh

I am 51, married to Kate and have 3 sons from my previous marriage (Sebastian 20, Noah 16 & Saxon 15).

I grew up in Port Elizabeth where I learned to play golf at Humewood Golf Club. My grandfather was a lifelong member of Humewood and my dad is still a member today. They both introduced me to the game and some of my fondest memories are playing with them at Humewood. I was playing with my grandpa when I got my first hole in one (16th at Humewood – it was a Par 3 at the time in 1989) and my last game with my grandpa was when he was 92. Playing with my dad, who is now 79, is still one of my favourite things to do.

I went to school at St Andrews College in Grahamstown and obtained a B. Com, from UCT followed by a MBA in the US.

Professionally, I spent 15 years with Fairheads Trust Company, which became Old Mutual Wealth Trust Company (2002-2017). I was CEO for 8 years. Currently I run my own consulting company helping my clients manage their family wealth.

I joined Clovelly on 6 August 2002 so this year it will be my 20th anniversary. From the very first day I found the Clovelly staff and members friendly and welcoming. It was a very refreshing experience compared to my experiences of golf clubs since I was a kid where I always felt I was doing something wrong! I still feel that friendliness today. I love the golf course - its layout, condition and remoteness.

I am part of a Friday morning school and I often play on a Saturday afternoons. Over the last few years, I have played Mid-Am league and more recently Masters league for the club.

Clovelly has given me a lot so when Dave asked me if I would be interested in being part of the golf committee, I felt it was a good time and opportunity to give something back to the club.

Cheers

Geordi
